National Co-production Advisory Group (NCAG)

Why we need this form

We want all our members to have the same chance to get involved in the NCAG.

The law says we must make sure anyone can be a member and we check this by asking you to tell us about yourself.

We ask about protected characteristics or things that might mean you are treated unfairly. For example:

- Whether you are a man or a woman

- Your age

- Whether you have a disability.

We also ask if you need any changes to help you get involved in our work.

This information will help us involve more people.

A law called the Data Protection Act says we can only use this information to check things like:

- Whether we have members from different groups that might be treated unfairly

- Whether there are things that stop some people being members of the NCAG

- If all our members have the same chance to get involved in NCAG.

We will not write anything that will tell other people about you or share your information with other organisations.

Other NCAG members can only see your personal information if they need to for their work.
